

A SMART CATHOLIC TAKE ON FAITH AND CULTURE

IMPACT REPORT 2025

We have a pope. Indeed, we do.

The words proclaimed from the central balcony of St. Peter's Basilica on May 8 marked the start of a historic and inspiring new chapter for the U.S. Catholic Church. With the election of Pope Leo XIV, the world welcomed the first American pontiff. A Chicago native and alumnus of Villanova University, the new successor of St. Peter brings to the papacy both a deep understanding of what it means to live the Catholic faith in America and a global perspective shaped by his years of missionary service.

When the world turned its eyes to Rome as the church mourned Pope Francis and began the conclave that would elect Leo XIV, America Media met the moment. Thanks to the support of generous donors, we were able to put a large team on the ground in Rome and deliver daily updates on the web, in email, and in podcasts and videos. In addition to the coverage we provided directly for America subscribers and listeners, our team also reached a much broader audience through commentary in a variety of secular media outlets. Throughout the time in Rome, I heard from other journalists about how often they turned to America's content and commentators to help them understand the deeper context of the story unfolding around us.

Through America magazine, our podcasts "Inside the Vatican," "Jesuitical," "Preach" and "The Spiritual Life with Fr. James Martin, S.J.," daily newsletters, webinars, Scripture reflections, pilgrimages, and the America website and app, we provide an informed Catholic perspective to deepen your understanding of global events as well as your faith. No other U.S.-based media organization is better positioned to deliver the high-quality reporting and insight you need about our church, the Vatican and now, our first American pope.

America's mission extends far beyond news and analysis. At the heart of all we do is a desire to build community, helping our readers, listeners and viewers feel more at home in the church through charitable engagement with diverse perspectives, united in the pursuit of the common good. We know you rely on us to navigate the ever-evolving intersection of church and world, a responsibility we take seriously and embrace with hope.

This year's Impact Report celebrates the many ways America Media continues to live out our mission. As always, we depend on your support, your generosity and above all, your prayers. We are grateful to journey with you, listening, discerning and seeking God's greater glory together.

Sam Sawyer, S.J.
President and Editor in Chief

REMEMBERING POPE FRANCIS AND WELCOMING POPE LEO XIV

Editors and producers from America Media and Outreach traveled to Rome to report on the death and funeral of Pope Francis, and the conclave and election of Pope Leo XIV. Through spiritual reflections, in-depth interviews and on-the-ground reporting, we said farewell to the beloved Jesuit pontiff and documented the historic election of the first pope from the United States. Some highlights of our coverage across platforms include:

AUDIO

The audio team capitalized on previous successes and continued to produce a broad range of informative and enriching audio experiences, including:

“The Spiritual Life with Fr. James Martin, S.J.”: Our brand new podcast series that has shot to overnight success, featuring in-depth conversations with Catholic sages such as Ron Rolheiser O.M.I. and Cardinal Timothy Radcliffe O.P. and high-profile spiritual seekers – Stephen Colbert, Martin Scorsese, Jim Gaffigan and Whoopi Goldberg. Released across web, podcasting platforms and YouTube, the show has quickly become America’s most viewed and listened to podcast.

Web  YouTube  Spotify  Apple Podcasts

“Inside the Vatican”: Building on seven years of steady growth, “Inside the Vatican” achieved record numbers during the papal transition in April and May 2025. The team partnered with “Jesuitical” to produce a conclave podcast publishing episodes every day for two weeks in both audio and video podcast format. As a result, weekly podcast engagement has remained at all time highs and the team is strategizing about how to grow even more.

Web  Youtube  Spotify  Apple Podcasts

“Jesuitical”: Our podcast “for saints and sinners” has evolved over the years but continues to serve a dedicated audience for honest conversations on a variety of topics, “sometimes over drinks.” The Jesuitical team was at the forefront of America’s conclave content strategy, partnering with “Inside the Vatican” to produce daily content that combined on-the-ground analysis with faith sharing conversations.

Web  Youtube  Spotify  Apple Podcasts

“Preach: The Catholic Homilies Podcast”: Entering its third season, “Preach” has built a steady and engaged audience looking for tools, best practices and faith-filled conversations about what makes a good homily. Listeners continue to appreciate hearing from well-known figures like Fr. Greg Boyle, S.J. while 2025 provided a special opportunity to discuss Pope Leo’s Augustinian spirituality.

Web  Youtube  Spotify  Apple Podcasts

“Hark! The Stories Behind Our Favorite Christmas Carols”: America’s beloved seasonal podcast climbed Apple Podcasts charts, rising to number 2 in Music Commentary and number 6 in Music. We also partnered with Skyview media to distribute 5 past episodes of “Hark!” on radio stations across the country, most notably New York City’s 98.7 fm on Christmas morning.

VIDEO PODCASTS

As podcast listening continues to surge globally, a new medium is redefining the industry. Half of all podcasts are now publishing video versions and Youtube has become the largest podcasting platform. America's audio and video teams have responded by evolving their production workflow to meet the demand. All of America's weekly shows—"The Spiritual Life with Fr. James Martin, S.J.," "Jesuitical," "Inside the Vatican," and "Preach: The Catholic Homilies Podcast"—are now available to watch on Youtube.

SOCIAL MEDIA

Like many publishers, America has faced declining organic referral traffic from social media platforms, which increasingly encourage users to stay within their ecosystems rather than click through to external websites. At the same time, platform algorithms have prioritized short-form video content. To remain relevant in this shifting landscape, America has continued experimenting with short-form video explainers and podcast clips.

We have also shifted how we approach social media—from seeing it as a free source of traffic to treating it as a marketing platform. We now invest in paid promotion to boost the reach of our posts and drive new audiences toward our email list.

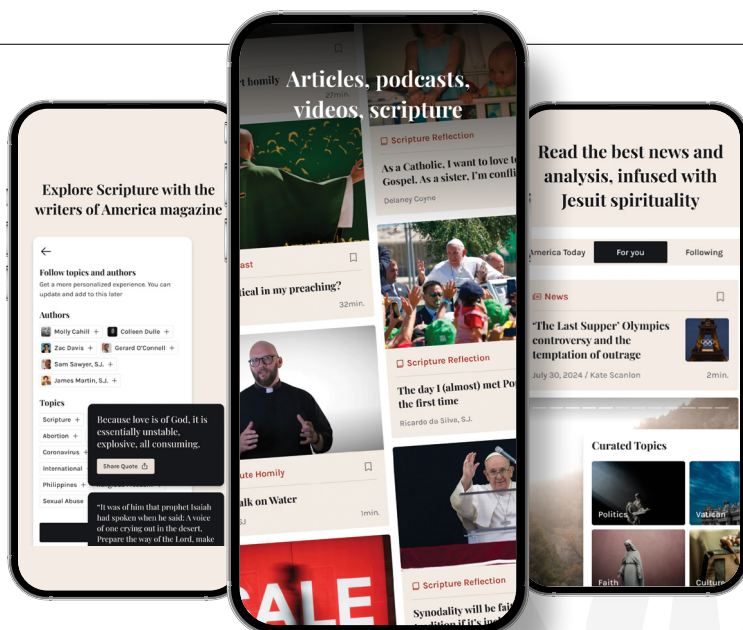

COMMUNITIES: CATHOLIC BOOK CLUB & CATHOLIC MOVIE CLUB

As part of America's coverage of culture and the arts, we also continued to offer two regular reflections on books and films, with an eye toward their relevance and importance for Catholic culture.

- Every Tuesday, senior editor James T. Keane published a "Catholic Book Club" reflection on a book, author or topic of particular interest to our readers, often mining America's own 116 years of archival content to bring voices new and old to the conversation. A weekly Catholic Book Club newsletter helped us bring that column to our readers' attention.
- America also offered regular reflections on movies by contributor John Dougherty in the "Catholic Movie Club." Reviewing and analyzing new and classic films, Dougherty's column focused on works "both Catholic and catholic: rooted in our faith, but also universal... unbounded by genre and topic."

NEWSLETTERS

America's daily newsletters are some of our most essential tools for communicating with our audience. Our newly published print and multimedia content is delivered to over 100,000 inboxes daily. In addition to our daily overview of the top Catholic stories of the day, we've enhanced our offerings with subscriber-only newsletters. Our daily Scripture reflections are a part of our subscriber's daily prayer routines, and our "Conclave Diary" newsletter was an essential connection between America's team on the ground in Rome and our readers during the historic election of Pope Leo XIV.

Building on the success of "The Word" mobile application, America expanded its mobile application to include all of America's written journalism, podcasts and social videos. Available for both Apple and Android devices, the app has garnered over 700 5-star ratings and continues to deepen engagement with America's digital audience.

WEBSITE REDESIGN

America migrated its content management system to Wordpress over the summer, and relaunched with an updated visual design and site organization. The redesigned website allows for greater editorial flexibility, leverages Wordpress's robust ecosystem and provides discerning Catholics with a premium web experience on desktop and mobile.

- Outreach held its first silent retreat, "Jesus Desires Your Friendship," at the Daylesford Abbey, with more than 70 retreatants in attendance for a serene and prayerful weekend.
- America Media pilgrims traveled in the footsteps of St. Paul through Greece, traced St. Ignatius's journeys in Spain, visited the site of the first Jesuit school in Sicily, and celebrated the Jubilee with two trips to Rome—one joining a global gathering of LGBTQ pilgrims in Rome and the other processing through the Holy Doors at all four papal basilicas and celebrating at other sacred sites.
- Friends were welcomed at America Media's New York City office to attend Masses celebrated for the memorial of Pope Francis, the inauguration of Pope Leo XIV and the Feast of St. Ignatius Loyola.

America Media Board Director, Peter Howe, lives his faith—and we are all the better for it.

As an engaged Fordham alum, Peter has a deep history with Ignatian spirituality and Jesuit ministries. After sharing his time and talents as a trustee of Fordham University, he joined the America Media Board in 2013 and served as vice-chair, providing leadership and support as the organization shifted to a digital-first media company. His financial acumen, strategic vision and Ignatian approach was key in shepherding America to become the vibrant, multiplatform media ministry it is today.

After a short hiatus, Peter has kindly agreed to re-join the Board of America Media. His long history with the organization and his enthusiasm and insight about the diverse platforms that America uses to spread the Good News make him a valuable part of the organization's broader leadership team. He is especially excited that America's content can provide robust resources for Catholic education and the promotion of a loving and inclusive church.

Peter has also been drawn to Father James Martin's Outreach ministry, which provides support to the Catholic LGBTQ community and those who love and minister to them. As the proud and deeply loving parent of a gay son, Peter believes that Jesus calls him—and all of us—to be supportive of the LGBTQ community. After praying to his late wife, Carol, he felt called to financially support Outreach's mission and has provided significant funding to support the ministry's many initiatives.

"I felt that Jesus was smiling," Peter said when he reflected on his contributions to America's media ministry. We agree, Peter, and we are grateful for the way you live Christ's vision at America Media.

MEDIA RELATIONS

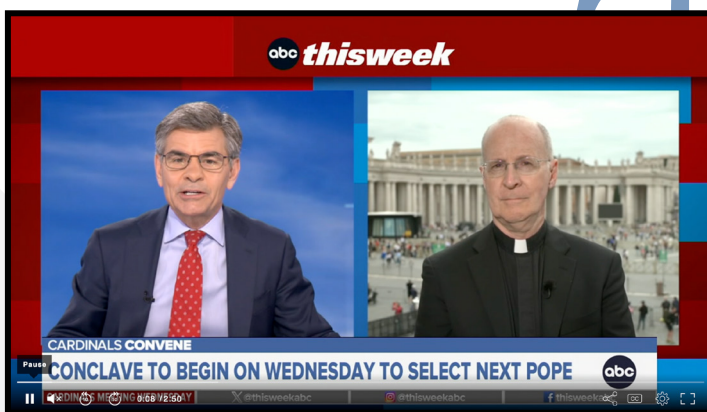

In 2025, the Church experienced a series of historic moments and America Media delivered comprehensive, expert coverage of Pope Francis' passing, the conclave and the election of Pope Leo XIV. Reporting from Rome, key members of our editorial team produced in-depth articles, podcasts, and videos exploring Pope Francis' legacy, the conclave process and the beginning of a new papacy. They also served as trusted experts across secular media during this pivotal moment for the Church. Our New York-based staff contributed significantly across all platforms, ensuring wide-ranging and cohesive coverage. Throughout this time of profound transition, America Media remained a reliable and balanced source for news and analysis, providing timely updates and thoughtful commentary as the Catholic Church entered a new chapter.

Outreach

An LGBTQ Catholic Ministry

Outreach, the LGBTQ ministry founded by Father James Martin, S.J., in 2021, and headed by Michael O'Loughlin since 2024, carried out its mission in creative ways:

- Hosting its first-ever three-day silent retreat, in Paoli, Penn., for more than 70 people
- Holding regional events in New England, Chicago and Los Angeles
- Leading nearly 50 pilgrims to Rome for an international gathering of LGBTQ Catholics
- Convening an international dialogue for LGBTQ Catholics at the headquarters of the Society of Jesus

In addition to Father Martin and Mr. O'Loughlin, Outreach benefits from the contribution of Alessandra Rose, America's director of development, and in June, John Consolie, a recent graduate of the University of Notre Dame (master of divinity), joined the team as communications and development associate.

Outreach continues to publish original content each week, which included daily video updates from Rome during the election of Pope Leo XIV, which attracted more than 700,000 views. Outreach also benefited from earned media in The Washington Post, CNN, AP and elsewhere during the conclave.

Several high-ranking church leaders were among the contributors to the Outreach site this year, including Cardinal Blase Cupich, Cardinal Óscar Andrés Rodríguez Maradiaga and Cardinal Wilton Gregory. The most-read article was published just before the conclave, with Mr. O'Loughlin looking at where various cardinals stood on LGBTQ issues.

Fundraising remains robust for Outreach, including the establishment of an endowment fund with initial pledges of more than $650,000. The annual appeal and giving day grew significantly year over year and our donor base continues to grow.

The next major gathering for Outreach will take place at Georgetown University, June 19-21, 2026.

LETTER FROM HEATHER

The best word to describe all that has been accomplished in the past year is community. You, along with all our readers, listeners, and supporters, form our ever-growing community of intellectually curious and faith-filled subscribers.

Your desire for meaningful, enriching content, along with your prayers and support, has brought this community together to mourn the passing of Pope Francis, celebrate the historic election of the first American pope, walk in the footsteps of St. Paul in Greece and St. Ignatius in Spain, and find welcome and spiritual renewal at our Outreach retreat, along with many other moments we shared. None of our work would be possible without you, nor would we want to do it without the support of our community.

As we look ahead, I invite you to help us welcome even more people into the America community. Share our content, give a gift subscription, or bring friends and family to one of our events or pilgrimages. We are stronger together, and in today's often divided world, finding a place where we can think deeply, pray faithfully, and grow in hope together is more important than ever.

Thank you for being an essential part of this journey.

With gratitude,
